Oranmore

Oranmore itself is a well-established residential location with a long and proud history. At its centre is Oranmore Castle, a building dating from between the 13th and 15th centuries famous for shipping provisions to the besieged port of Galway during the Confederate Rebellion in the 1640s. The lands now occupied by Cnoc an Chaisleáin were originally home to a second castle in the area, Moneyduff Castle, before it was razed sometime before 1838.

The thriving city of Galway is just 8km away and easily reached by a range of transport options, including train and bus services. Oranmore is located on the main railway line between Dublin and Galway, offering a fast and frequent service to both locations. Several bus routes link Oranmore with every part of Galway and beyond. For motorists, Cnoc an Chaisleáin residents have immediate access to Ireland's national road network, including the M6 motorway that links Galway with Dublin.

Everything within walking distance

There are both primary and secondary schools in the immediate area – and with Galway City just 8km away, there’s plenty of choice for every age group, even third level. Every taste in sport is also covered, with GAA, soccer, badminton, basketball and judo just some of the popular clubs in the village.

Oranmore is also ideal for those who love to spend as much time as possible in the Great Outdoors. Its idyllic location on the banks of Galway Bay is simply heaven for walkers, joggers and cyclists; even better, soak in the magnificent views during a round of golf at Galway Bay Golf Club, just minutes from your new home.

The many amenities of Oranmore are just a short stroll for Cnoc an Chaisleáin residents, who can choose between Tesco, Aldi, Lidl and for their weekly shop. Catch up with friends over dinner in a local bar or restaurant; Oranmore pubs are famous for their impromptu music sessions, so you’ll never be short of entertainment in this lively location!
